Hi James,
Thanks for the lovely conversation this afternoon. Your book project sounds like it would be incredibly powerful, and a good tool to help raise awareness of the personal side of Breast Cancer.

I agree that it would be good to include a story from a woman who breastfed as well. This would help raise awareness of the health benefits of breastfeeding for the mother as well as the child. As you know, studies have shown that women who have breastfed may have a lower chance of getting Breast Cancer.

Please feel free to use womenshealth.gov as a resource for information in the book, and let me know if there is any other way we could help you out.
